

Association of Pharmacy Technicians UK (APTUK) – Terms and Conditions

The Association of Pharmacy Technicians UK takes every effort to ensure that the information published on this web site is accurate. However, the APTUK cannot accept any liability for the accuracy or content. Visitors who rely on this information do so at their own risk.

Copyright

Unless otherwise stated all material featured on this site are copyright © The Association of Pharmacy Technicians UK. Any rights not expressly granted herein are reserved. Reproduction, transfer, distribution or storage of part or all of the contents in any form without the prior written permission of APTUK is prohibited except in accordance with the following terms.

Copyright protected material may be reproduced free of charge in any format or medium for research, private study or for internal circulation within an organisation. This is subject to the material being reproduced accurately and not used in a misleading context.

Where any of the copyright items on this site are being republished or copied to others, the source of the material must be identified, the copyright status must be acknowledged, and any usage fees incurred must be paid.

For any other proposed use of the material please contact us.

The permission to reproduce material does not extend to anything on this site identified as being the copyright of a third party. Authorisation to reproduce such material must be obtained from the copyright holders concerned.

Virus protection

The APTUK makes every effort to check and test material at all stages of production. It is always wise for users to run an anti virus program on all material downloaded from the Internet.

The APTUK cannot accept any responsibility for any loss, disruption or damage to your data or your computer system which may occur whilst using material off the web site.

Review of this Policy

We keep this Policy under regular review. This Policy was last updated in May 2018.